

Camden Goods Yard

Delivering a mixed-use urban quarter in Camden

CLIENT

Barratt London and Morrisons Plc

LPA

London Borough of Camden

STATUS

Planning permission granted

SERVICES

Planning, Heritage &
Economics

Our role

- The site is a high profile strategic site on the edge of Camden Town which will facilitate the wider redevelopment of the Camden Goods Yard framework area.
- Turley Planning co-ordinated the full planning process, from project inception to the grant of planning permission. Our input included strategy advice, pre-application engagement, supporting the production of an area planning framework and negotiating on the terms of the legal agreement and planning conditions. We built a close relationship with the local authority over the course of the project.
- Turley Heritage and Economics provided specialist input including at the design development stage and for the Environmental Impact Assessment and planning submission. This included townscape analysis, which informed iterative masterplan options, and assessments of economic benefits and health impacts of the proposals.

Results

- Planning permission was secured through a unanimous committee decision and with an officer recommendation for approval.
- We engaged positively with all key stakeholders during the pre-application and application process to ensure that the redevelopment scheme is contextually responsive whilst optimising the development potential of the site.
- The approved full planning permission will deliver 573 new homes, 40% of which will be affordable, and nearly 40,000 sq m of mixed commercial space. The proposals will deliver a genuinely mixed-use new urban quarter set within extensive public realm which opens up links to the wider area.
- The redevelopment of this site will be a catalyst for wider improvements to this important area on the edge of Camden Town.